Our donors make it possible to interpret, present and disseminate research in the field of gender-based violence prevention.

With the help of our donors, we are achieving our vision of being a nationally and internationally recognized leader in gender-based research.

We thank our donors for ensuring that the Centre for Research & Education on Violence Against Women & Children remains inspiring and educational for all of our audiences and constituencies.

A gift to the Centre for Research & Education on Violence Against Women & Children helps us continue this critical work, and not only envision a world where violence is no longer a primary part of the human experience, but also to inspire action to realize that vision.

Thank you for your support!
