

Impact on work

Although we tend to think of domestic violence as behaviour that happens at home, we have a lot of research evidence, along with some lived experiences that tell us that domestic violence has an impact on work.